

TICKET #IE314_199

The date in the QTG List of effective pages does not correctly reflect the actual date of the Master QTG validation tests.

For example, the 'Master Date' of QTG 1.c.i Normal climb all engines operating is 01/03/19 with a 'Result date' of 28/03/2019(Master Load 1902) however the LEP reflects a date of 31/01/2019(Revision 1.0).

For example, the 'Master Date' of QTG 1.c.ii One engine inoperative second segment climb is 27/07/21 with a 'Result date' of 19/07/23 (Master load 2012.01) however the LEP reflects a date of 27/07/2021(Revision 1.02).

From the example it can be seen that the dates shown in the LEP are in some cases before the actual master test date and, in some cases the dates shown in the LEP are after the actual master test date. It is not possible to confirm if the Master test in the binder is the correct configuration.

Michael 10-04-2023

Ticket created with Alsim

Jeffrey - Alsim - 14-04-2024

Michael, can you please send the QTG List of effective pages

Michael 16-04-2024

Please see attached PDF of the Effective pages.

EffectivePages.pdf

Jeffrey 19-04-2024

Received. Thank-you. Please allow us time to review.

Jeffrey - 28-04-2024

Michael, at your request we provided you the List of effective pages on ODT format so that AFTA could update these changes. The Effecting pages provided were updated by AFTA?

Michael 30-04-2024

Yes, The effective pages were updated by myself using the template provided. I can send the ODT Template file if required back to you?

Jeffrey 04-05-2024

We are trying to arrange a remote session in the near future to accommodate other tickets, update of Manual descriptions. We would suggest that AFTA review the Master QTG and compare to the List of Effective pages prior to any remote support meeting and we can discuss the discrepancies.

Michael 04-05-2025

Jeffrey - I will do a review of the MQTG and the List of effective pages that I made. I probably made mistakes with the dates. I will revert back once I have had the chance to compare. I will update ticket accordingly after the internal review.

Regards

Michael